ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

ADJUTANT GENERAL.

NORTH CAROLINA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,
RALEIGH, January 1st, 1882.

To His Excellency, Gov. THOMAS J. JARVIS:

SIR:—I have the honor to submit herewith my annual report for the year 1881. The accompanying exhibit contains a complete register of the military force of the State, an abstract of the muster rolls, a statement of the receipts and disbursements of ordnance and ordnance stores, the general orders and circulars issued during the past year, a tabulated form showing the location of the companies, papers relating to the Yorktown expedition, and matters pertaining to the Plymouth riot—all of which I respectfully commend to the attention of your Excellency.

The most notable event of the year in the history of the State Guard was the participation of a part of the force in the celebration of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown. We carried fourteen companies of infantry, organized in two provisional battalions, aggregating 507 men; accompanied by an excellent volunteer brass band of thirty pieces.

5 The representation was altogether creditable to the State.
+ Our troops compared favorably with those present from
- other States, in equipment, discipline and soldierly bearing, and exceeded many in numbers. The personal conduct of the men, with few exceptions, was admirable in every respect; and on all occasions they proved themselves worthy of the State.

To members of the Staff I am indebted for valuable assistance; and particularly to Lieut. Col. F. A. Olds, to whose persistent efforts we are chiefly indebted for the admirable and complete equipments, of the latest patterns, procured for the use of the troops.

Once during the year the troops were called on to aid the civil authorities. An urgent telegraphic appeal from the Mayor of Plymouth, on December 29th, necessitated the calling out of two companies of infantry; for the full details of which I refer your Excellency to the reports of Lieut. Col. Cotten, Capt. Nash and Capt. Bogart, set out in Exhibit "G."

The promptness with which the men from Tarboro and Washington responded to your Excellency's call, and the patience with which they endured the hardships of the expedition, are worthy of commendation.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JOHNSTONE JONES,

Adjutant General of N. C.

[CIRCULAR LETTER.]

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, July 21st, 1881.

To the Officers and Men of the State Guard:

The Caswell celebration will take place at Kinston on the 3d day of August. The Governor has issued the following address in relation thereto:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, N. C., July 19, 1881.

To the People of North Carolina:

I was charged by the last General Assembly with the duty of erecting a monument to the memory of Gov. Richard Caswell, either in the town of Kinston or at his grave, three miles from the town, and a small but inadequate appropriation was made for that purpose.

An association, however, composed of public-spirited men of Kinston and vicinity, was formed with a view of increasing the fund sufficiently to secure the erection of a suitable monument, and upon their success I agree to use the State appropriation to build the monument in that town.

By the persistent effort of this association, and the liberality of the people, a sufficient fund has been raised to secure quite an imposing monument.

The 3d of August being the anniversary of Governor Caswell's birthday, the Association has designated it as the day on which the monument shall be unveiled. Senator Vance, at the request of the Association, has consented to deliver an oration on the occasion. Several military companies will be present and participate in the ceremonies, and it is hoped that the Masonic fraternity will join with us in these services, in honor of one who held the highest offices in their order.

Special trains will be run with greatly reduced rates of fare, so as to give the people an opportunity to attend.

I hope to see large numbers of the people there to witness these interesting ceremonies, and to do honor to the memory of this accomplished surveyor, able lawyer, skillful financier, successful soldier, profound statesman, devoted patriot and honest man.

It is fit and proper, in these days of the assassin's greed for the emoluments of office, that men should give a day to the memory of one who served his country without stint and without compensation. I therefore invite the people to make the 3d of August a general holiday throughout the State.

I am your obedient servant,

THOMAS J. JARVIS,
Governor.

The Militia of the State are invited, and earnestly hoped they will attend in full force and do their part in honoring the memory of North Carolina's first Governor and Captain General under a free Constitution.

The authorities of the Associated Railways of the Virginias and Carolinas have agreed to transport over their lines all military organizations, going in uniform as distinct bodies, and all of each body on one train, at the following round trip rates:

From Weldon, $1.50; Tarboro, $1.25; Wilmington, $1.50; Raleigh, $1.00; Durham, $1.25; Hillsboro, $1.25; Greensboro, $1.50; Winston, $1.75; Salisbury, $2.25; Statesville, $2.50; and Charlotte, $2.75.

Troops will be transported over the Carolina Central Railway at two (2) cents per mile; and over the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad at one fare.

The Military are to arrive at Kinston by 11 A. M. on August 3d, and leave at 3 or 4 P. M. on the same day. Companies proposing to attend will notify the undersigned as soon as possible, by letter or telegram, addressed to Morganton.

Troops attending on this occasion will hold themselves in readiness for review and inspection.

JOHNSTONE JONES,
Adjutant General N. C.

THE YORKTOWN EXPEDITION.

GENERAL AND SPECIAL ORDERS.

[COPY.]

Washington, March 30th, 1881.

HON. THOS. J. JARVIS,

Governor of the State of North Carolina:

SIR:—The Yorktown Centennial Commission extends to you a cordial invitation to attend the ceremonies to be held at Yorktown, commencing on the 19th of October, 1881, in commemoration of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis and his Army to the allied forces of the United States and France.

You will please extend this invitation to such of your Staff as you may desire to accompany you.

The Commission hopes for as large a military representation from your State as possible on that occasion, and would be glad to know at your earliest convenience what number of troops will probably attend, whether they will come by water or by rail, and whether they will furnish their own quarters on boats or cars, or desire to be assigned locations for encampment.

This information is needed for the use and guidance of the officer detailed by the Government to lay off the grounds for an encampment, and to assign their positions to the various corps expected to be in attendance.

The Commission would also like to be informed of any action taken by your State Legislature in this matter, and to receive copies of all official acts in connection therewith.

JOHN W. JOHNSTON,
Chairman.

Clerk.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, April 19th, 1881.

HON. JOHN W. JOHNSTON,
Chairman Yorktown Centennial Com.,
Washington, D. C.:

DEAR SIR:—It is my desire, and will be my purpose to be at Yorktown, on the 19th of October. I therefore accept the invitation of the Commission with pleasure.

I have taken a deep interest in all the preliminary meetings and movements looking to the success of this great event, and no one of the thousands who attend the celebration, will enter more heartily into its spirit than I.

As the battle fought there by our fathers was the end of strife and the victory of liberty, so may the celebration by their sons be the end of sectional strife and the victory of reconciliation.

I shall do all in my power to have this State well represented by a fine military organization, but cannot now speak definitely about it. The Adjutant General will give you this requested information at an early day.

I send you enclosed a certified copy of the resolution passed by the General Assembly of this State.

I have the honor to be,

Very truly yours,

THOS. J. JARVIS.

The companies comprising this detachment will leave upon the Seaboard Air-Line Railroad and Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, on Monday morning, October 17, from points on the main line. The Durham Light Infantry will leave Durham in time to make connection at Raleigh Monday morning with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad. The Anson Veterans will leave Wadesboro so as to make connection at Hamlet with the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line Railroad Monday morning. The Fayetteville companies will leave Fayetteville in time to make the connection at Sanford Monday morning. The companies from Wilmington, Kenansville, Goldsboro and Tarboro will leave their respective starting points so as to make connection at Weldon with the train on the Seaboard Railroad on Monday, Oct. 17, uniting with the portion of the Middle Detachment coming from Raleigh. This detachment will proceed from Portsmouth by the Old Dominion Steamship Company's steamer to Yorktown, where it will arrive in the early part of the night.

EASTERN DETACHMENT.

The Washington Light Infantry and the Albemarle Guards will leave their respective places and proceed by water lines so as to make connection at Elizabeth City Monday morning, with the 7:30 a. m. train for Norfolk. Arriving at Norfolk this detachment will proceed to the depot of the Seaboard Railroad at Portsmouth, and await the arrival of the Middle Detachment from Weldon.

III. Commandants of companies will purchase for their men, of the station agent, at their respective starting points, the round trip tickets provided for the military. Field and staff officers, musicians, caterers, cooks and servants will be transported at the same rate as for the rank and file, and will likewise purchase military tickets, as above stated. Field and staff officers will pay their fare, and one-half of the amount will be refunded to them upon application to the Adjutant General at Raleigh. Each field or staff officer should make arrangements to mess with some company of his battalion.

IV. The following is the round trip fare per man, fixed by the railroad and steamboat authorities, upon agreement with the authorities of the State:

V. While en route for Yorktown the commanding officers are charged to see that good order is observed, that no ball cartridges or loaded rifles are taken aboard, and that bayonets are carried in the scabbards. Before starting, sentinels will be posted at each end of each car, to keep the men from passing from one car to another, or from standing upon the platforms, also to prevent unauthorized persons from entering the cars. Commissioned officers will keep with their companies, and will be held accountable for the conduct of their men on the journey. No intoxicating liquor should be allowed to be taken on the train: drinking must be prohibited and drunkenness promptly punished.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief:

JOHNSTONE JONES,
Adjutant General.

CIRCULAR:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Raleigh, September 7th, 1881.

In response to the general enquiry among the troops of this State for information regarding the arrangements for the coming celebration at Yorktown, Virginia, in October next, the following is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

The days embraced between October 13th and 21st inclusive have been fixed upon as the days of celebration, which will be held under the joint auspices of the "Congressional Commission" and the "Yorktown Centennial Association."

THE PROGRAMME OF CELEBRATION

is as follows:

THURSDAY, October 13.—The formal opening of the Moore House (the scene of the capitulation) and the inauguration of the celebration, by an address from the President of the Association, with a re-union of the descendants of officers and soldiers of the Revolution.

FRIDAY, October 14.—Addresses by the Hon. Carl Schurz, Frederick R. Couderd and Prof. Elie Charlier. A Grand Ball in the Pavilion.

Industrial Associations, Benevolent Organizations, &c., &c., with appropriate addresses by distinguished representative American citizens.

TUESDAY, October 18.—An opening address by the Chairman of the Congressional Commission, and an address of welcome, by His Excellency, the Governor of Virginia. The laying of the Corner Stone of the Centennial Monument, with appropriate ceremonies and addresses, by the Grand Lodge of Masons of Virginia and invited Masonic Orders of the United States.

WEDNESDAY, October 19.—An address from His Excellency, the President of the United States. An oration by the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, of Massachusetts. A poem by James Barron Hope, of Virginia. An ode, written by Paul H. Hayne, of South Carolina, and rendered by a mammoth Choir and Chorus under the direction of Prof. Charles L. Siegel, of Richmond.

THURSDAY, October 20.—Grand Military Review, participated in by citizen soldiery from all portions of the United States.

FRIDAY, October 21.—A Grand Naval Review, participated in by all classes of vessels in the United States Navy.

This general programme, as outlined, will be so enlivened for each day's entertainment, by vocal and instrumental music and military displays, either of general parades and reviews or competitive drills, as to assure attractiveness and novelty therein.

Present advices promise a military representation from nearly every State in the Union. Most of the Governors, accompanied by their staffs and distinguished citizens, will be present, while the attendance of people from all parts of the country is expected to be very large.

It being desirable and specially requested by the Commission, that all the military organizations should be comfortably established before the ceremonies begin, and official notification having been given by the officer in charge of the arrangements for the military, that no guarantee of a comfortable camping place can be made to troops arriving on the grounds later than Saturday, October 15th, the North Carolina organizations will leave the State for Yorktown on Friday night and Saturday morning, the 14th and 15th days of October, and will arrive at their destination and go into camp on Saturday night.

TRANSPORTATION.

The route over which each company will be transported, the points of rendezvous, &c., will be designated in due time. The authorities of "the Associated Railways of Virginia and the Carolinas," comprising the Piedmont Air-Line, the Atlantic Coast Line, and the Seaboard Air-Line, propose to furnish military organizations transportation to the respective railway termini at the rate of one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) cents per mile traveled in each direction.

The State will pay as much of this expense and that of transportation over the water lines from the railway termini as possible. Whether the State appropriation will be sufficient to meet the whole cost remains to be seen; the question depends upon the number of troops that may go from this State. The sum of money devoted to this part of the expense will be duly apportioned among the various companies.

Should the cost of transportation exceed the State fund set apart for this purpose, each company must then make up the requisite amount from their own private funds. It is expected, however, that the fund at the Governor's disposal will be sufficient to pay all the transportation charges.

To entitle a company to the aid of the State on this expedition, it must carry at least thirty-two (32) men, rank and file, which is the minimum number fixed by law. In addition, each company will be allowed two cooks and a caterer.

THE ENCAMPMENT.

The arrangement of the grounds for the military display is under the control of the War Department, and is superintended by Lieutenant Colonel William P. Craighill, Corps of Engineers. All the military forces will be under the command of Major General Winfield S. Hancock, U. S. A. The commission will establish a camp on the south bank of the York river, near the town of Yorktown, and as nearly as practicable on the ground occupied by the allied troops during the siege of 1781. It will be under the control of General Hancock, and will be governed, so far as may be practicable, by the rules and regulations of the army. Tents have been secured for the North Carolina troops. These tents are the property of the United States government, and men are reminded that they must exercise all proper care for their preservation.

While in camp the command will be governed by the rules and orders laid down by the Commanding General for the order and discipline of the camp. Officers should acquaint themselves as far as possible, and instruct their men beforehand in camp duties, guard-mounting, the duties of sentinels, &c. A little attention to these matters will save much trouble, and perhaps some mortification. The North Carolina State Guard will be brought into contrast with the well trained militia of other States, and it is very desirable that the comparison be not unfavorable to our State.

Water for drinking and cooking will be provided in reasonable quantities and at convenient points. Fuel for cooking purposes will be provided by the Commission. The troops from each State will, as far as practicable, be located together. A post office and a telegraph office, with connection to all points, will be established on the grounds. The camp will be lighted by night with electric lights, and the Commission, it is understood, will spare no effort to make the encampment as complete and enjoyable as the means and facilities at their command will permit.

SUBSISTENCE.

Each company must rely on itself for subsistence. It is out of the power of the State to provide for their subsistence. There is a total lack of means for such purpose. It is recommended that each company go prepared to establish company messes on the grounds. To this end each company should employ two good cooks, should select a competent caterer to provide for its subsistence, and should have an efficient treasurer to manage the financial part of the business; each officer and soldier to pay to the treasurer, from time to time, his proportionate share of the money needed to support the company. A plan of this kind has been found to operate admirably in short encampments of volunteers. It is the most practical, the easiest, and the most economical plan that can be adopted.

The situation at Yorktown, in the near vicinity of the finest fishing grounds, oyster beds and market gardens in the country, affords peculiar facilities for the abundant supply of edibles of the largest and choicest varieties at the most reasonable rates; and special arrangements might be made with caterers, or with any of the hotels or restaurants on the grounds to furnish meals to companies or battalions; but, nevertheless, I advise that each company carry with it the more important elements of the ration, such as bread, salt meats, coffee sugar, salt, pepper, vinegar, candles, &c., and also cooking utensils, plates and dishes.

The following is a liberal ration: Twenty-two ounces (22 oz.) of bread; three-fourths of a pound ($\frac{3}{4}$ th lb.) of salt meat, or one pound (1 lb.) of fresh meat; one-tenth of a pound ($\frac{1}{10}$ th lb.) of coffee; one-eighth pound ($\frac{1}{8}$ th lb.) of sugar; and salt, pepper, vinegar, candles, &c., ad libitum. Provision must be made for a period of eight (8) days, including the two days to be consumed in traveling to and fro, so that for the subsistence of one man, there will be wanted, 8 rations, or 11 lbs. bread, 6 lbs. salt meat or 8 lbs. fresh meat, 4-5th lb. coffee, 1 lb. sugar, and salt, pepper, &c., in quantities to suit.

Each company should provide itself with the following utensils: 4 to 6 camp kettles, according to the strength of the company; 3 to 4 mess pans; 2 ovens; 4 to 6 frying pans; 3 to 4 coffee pots of medium size; and also an iron pot-rack and pot hooks for hanging the pots and kettles over the fire—a convenience which will save trouble, and insure better cooking.

To convey the utensils, each company should procure a camp chest of suitable dimensions, strongly built, painted and labelled with the company's name lettered, regiment, brigade, location and State—the chest to have stout handles for convenience in lifting.

The provisions should be carefully boxed up in convenient packages, and should be labelled with the name of the company, &c., and be addressed to Yorktown, to be transported at the same time with the company.

Medical supplies will be furnished by the State, under the direction of the Surgeon General. Ample provision will be made for the care and medical treatment of any who shall fall sick or get injured during the encampment. A medicine chest, well-stocked, will be taken with the command.

The cost of eight days' rations, upon the plan suggested, ought not to exceed $2.50 per man. Adding to this the expense of cooks, caterer, camp-chest, cooking utensils, &c., and possibly a small fraction of the railroad and steamboat fare and excluding from the reckoning all extras in the way of eating, drinking, &c., the aggregate cost to the individual may approximate, but ought not to go beyond six or eight dollars.

EQUIPMENTS.

Each soldier must be completely equipped. In addition to his uniform, a change of under-clothing, his rifle, cartridge box, bayonet scabbard and waist belt and plate, he must have a blanket, knapsack, haversack, canteen, plate, cup, spoon, knife and fork. The State will supply all these articles except blankets. Company commanders should forward immediately to the Adjutant General of the State requisitions for such of the above named articles as they may need.

Men who are able to do so should provide themselves with rubber blankets for rainy weather. Under-clothing suitable for winter wear should be taken. Yorktown is a bleak point, and much exposed to easterly and northerly winds. The weather there in the month of October is likely to be quite cool. Sickness and suffering may be prevented by attention to this suggestion for the comfort and health of the men.

Army blankets can be obtained at very reasonable prices from Messrs. Wilson & Bradbury, 217 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia. Jacob Reed's Sons, Second and Spruce streets, Philadelphia, will supply the State service dress at a very low contract price, provided orders are given for whole companies at one time. The "silver gray" blanket, at $1.31¼ apiece, is perhaps the cheapest blanket of any worth purchasing in the American market, but I recommend the "scarlet" blanket, which is sold by the piece, at $1.00 per yard, width 54 inches, weight 20 ounces to the yard. Two (2) yards and two (2) inches, or 74 inches, is a sufficient length for temporary field service, making the cost of the blankets $2.05 apiece, or $4.10 per pair. Blankets of the army standard in length, width and weight may be purchased of Messrs. Wilson & Bradbury at prices ranging very much higher, of course, than the prices of the "silver gray" and the "scarlet" blankets.

Companies are urged to make all necessary preparations for the expedition as promptly and as thoroughly as it is possible for them to do so. The time is short. Where means are lacking, let the liberal and public-spirited men of the community be called on for assistance, for the sake of the State as well as the company. It will be unfortunate and a matter of unavailing regret if North Carolina should make a meagre or shabby appearance on an occasion where each participating State is expected "to put her best foot foremost."

Companies should perfect themselves in company drill, especially in the marchings, wheelings and manual of arms. No company will be accepted that does not come up to the standard in numbers, equipment, drill, discipline and soldierly appearance.

Company and field officers should master battalion tactics, and be prepared to handle their respective commands with creditable skill. There will be no excuse for blunders. Officers who feel themselves incompetent to manoeuvre their men or incapable of acquiring, between this and October, a sufficient knowledge of tactics to enable them to command their companies or battalions in the field, should resign at once, so that their places may be supplied by more accomplished tacticians. Frequent, careful and persevering drill on the part of companies, and constant, conscientious study on the part of officers, both foot and mounted, is earnestly recommended from this time on.

Every North Carolinian should take pride in seeing his native State well represented in this great assemblage of State and National organizations. It especially behooves all organizations of the State Guard who shall attend the celebration, to make such preparations as the dignity of the occasion and the honor of the State demand.

By order of the Governor:

JOHNSTONE JONES,
Adjutant General and Chief of Staff, N. C.

G.

THE PLYMOUTH RIOT.

REPORT OF LIEUT. COL. JOHN W. COTTEN.

TARBORO, N. C., JANUARY 12TH, 1882.

GENERAL JOHNSTONE JONES, Adjutant General:

SIR:—I have the honor herewith to submit my report of the operations of the troops under my command on the trip to Plymouth, December 29th, 30th and 31st, 1881.

Thursday, December 29th, 1881, at 4:30 P. M., I received a telegram from the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, informing me that Plymouth was in the hands of an armed mob, that he had ordered Co. "G," 1st Regiment N. C. S. G. and the Edenton Company there, and ordering me to proceed immediately to Plymouth to take command of the companies and co-operate with the civil authorities in enforcing the law and preserving order. I immediately made arrangements to drive to Plymouth, distant 55 miles, that night. Just as I was starting, the Governor telegraphed me to order Co. "F," 1st Regiment N. C. S. G., to hold themselves in readiness, and shortly after directed me to order the company to proceed immediately to Plymouth.

By consent of the Governor, I placed Capt. H. K. Nash, Jr., in command of the Company, Lieut. J. Y. Paris being sick and Lieut J. R. Statton absent. I telegraphed Lieut. Statton to report for duty immediately, and sent couriers to summon members of Co. "F," who lived in the country.

Owing to the very severe weather and the prevalence of the new horse disease, some trouble was experienced in obtaining transportation, but I succeeded at 10:30 P. M. in starting the first detachment of Co. "F," Capt. Nash commanding, leaving instructions for Lieut. Statton to follow as rapidly as possible with the other detachment. I went on ahead of the troops and reached Williamston, Martin county, 32 miles from Tarboro, about 5 o'clock A. M., December 30th, 1881. Having been instructed by the Governor to procure transportation by steamer from this point, I was disappointed to find that no boat would leave Williamston till 12 M. Capt. Nash, with his detachment, having arrived, I ordered him to wait for a boat till 12 o'clock, and if none arrived by that time to drive on to Plymouth, his teams being sufficiently rested by that time. After spending a short time in Williamston to rest my horse, I drove to Plymouth, 22 miles, arriving there about 1 o'clock P. M., the condition of the roads not permitting fast time to be made.

On my arrival I found Co. "G," 1st Regiment N. C. S. G., Capt. D. M. Bogart commanding, in quiet possession of the town. I immediately assumed command and reported to the Mayor and Sheriff, as instructed by the Governor. Although everything was apparently quiet and orderly, there seemed to be a fear on the civil authorities of their inability to preserve order. The Mayor, after consultation with the citizens, sent me a written request to remain and keep one company until January 2d, 1882.

At 4 o'clock P. M. Governor Jarvis arrived, and I reported to him. The detachment of Co. "F," under Captain Nash, arrived at 6 P. M., December the 30th.

There being no further need of the services of this company, by consent of the Governor, I ordered them to return home via Edenton and Franklin. They accordingly left Plymouth at 12 o'clock the same night, and reached home Saturday night, December 31st, 1881. I kept Co. G in Plymouth on duty until Saturday night, December 31st, 1881, when the Mayor informed me he no longer needed the assistance of the military. I ordered Captain Bogart to return home via Jamesville, thence by rail to Washington. I came as far as Jamesville with this command, and being unable to procure transportation for myself to Williamston, was compelled to remain till January 2d, 1882. I reached Williamston at 3 o'clock, P. M. on that day, and after a drive of 32 miles through the snow reached home at 11 o'clock same night.

I enclose reports of Captains Bogart and Nash, also Lieut. J. R. Staton, and in doing so, take great pleasure in calling your attention to the promptness with which the members of the N. C. S. G. responded to the call of the Governor, and to the cheerfulness and soldierly manner with which each and every duty was performed throughout the entire trip, which was a severe and arduous one. Thinking the services of a Surgeon might be required, I ordered Surgeon J. M. Baker, 1st Regiment N. C. S. G., to accompany the troops. Fortunately his services were not needed, though he reported promptly for duty and accompanied us throughout the entire trip. I detailed Lieut. Frank Powell, formerly of Co. F, 1st Regiment, to act as Adjutant.

The severity of the weather and the condition of the roads caused our expenses to be large and our progress slow. I am pleased to report that none of our men have suffered any ill effects from the trip.

I enclose copies of all orders issued or received by me during this trip. Also, statement of expenses.

Very respectfully, &c.,

JOHN W. COTTEN,
Lieut. Col. 1st Regiment N. C. S. G.

TELEGRAMS FROM GOVERNOR JARVIS.

GREENVILLE, N. C., DECEMBER 29TH, 1881.

Lieut. Col. J. W. COTTEN, Tarboro, N. C.:

I am just informed that Plymouth is in the hands of armed mob of negroes. I have ordered the Washington and Edenton companies there. You are hereby commanded to proceed, over land by horse to-night, to Plymouth and take command of the troops. Use the military to support the civil authorities in keeping order. Report to me at this place via Washington, by courier and telegraph, the condition of affairs as soon as you arrive, and if anything further is needed.

THOMAS J. JARVIS,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

GREENVILLE, N. C., DECEMBER 29TH, 1881.

COLONEL COTTEN:

Order the Tarboro Company to follow you at once. Provide them with wagons for baggage, and have them to take boat at Williamston, if you can procure one.

THOMAS J. JARVIS,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

REPORT OF CAPTAIN NASH.

HEADQUARTERS Co. F, 1ST REGIMENT N. C. S. G.,
TARBORO, N. C., January 5th, 1882.

To COL. COTTEN:

SIR:—On Thursday evening, December 29th, 1881, at 6 o'clock, I received an order from Col. John W. Cotten, ordering me to take command of the "Edgecombe Guards" and proceed with them to Plymouth, and when there to report to him. I immediately ordered the Orderly Sergeant to assemble the Company as quickly as possible, and at 7 o'clock they were under arms and ready to start.

After two hours' delay in getting wagons to transport them, I started the first detachment of the men under Lieut. J. C. Dowd, and shortly thereafter the rest of the command, as reported below by Sergeant Bennett, were on the road in wagons making for Williamston, at which point I hoped to catch the regular passenger boat for Plymouth. We reached Williamston at sun rise on Friday morning, when we found that the steamer had left and we were compelled to wait for a freight boat which was looked for at 11 o'clock, and which was tendered us by Mr. Dennis Simmons, President of the Navigation Company to which she belonged.

At 11 we got off and reached Plymouth at 6 P. M., when we reported as ordered to Col. John W. Cotten. After a stay of a few hours in Plymouth, Col. Cotten, after a consultation with Governor Jarvis, whom we found on the ground, ordered me to return to Tarboro with my command by the most expeditious route, and I left at 1 o'clock A. M., on the steamer Chowder with all my command except a detail of four, whom I had sent back to Williamston to take the teams to Tarboro.

Upon leaving Tarboro, I left orders for Lieut. J. R. Staton, who was absent at the time, and whom I had ordered by telegram to report for duty as quickly as possible, to follow me the next morning, with what additional members of the company that he might be able to get together in that time, and I herewith send his report of operations, in obedience to that order. I hand in with this a detailed statement of the names and rank of the members of Co. F who answered to the call, and also an itemized statement of necessary expenses incident thereto.

In conclusion, sir, it gives me great pleasure to call especial attention to the promptness with which the members of the company responded to the call of their State, and the cheerful and uncomplaining spirit in which they bore the very severe hardships to which they were necessarily exposed by reason of the severity of the weather and the need of dispatch, which prevented my allowing them to stop on account of the weather. And I must especially call attention to the fact that we had in our ranks five men who volunteered to go after the order was received, and who proved good soldiers under the troubles of the trip, and would no doubt have made good fighters.

Yours very respectfully,

H. K. NASH, JR.,
Captain Commanding.

REPORT OF CAPTAIN BOGART.

WASHINGTON, N. C., JANUARY 2D, 1882.

SIR:—In obedience to telegraphed orders from Thos. J. Jarvis, Governor and Commander-in-Chief, I proceeded to Plymouth with thirty-seven men rank

I dispatched a special messenger to Dymond City for a train. Fearing some mishap, I marched my company by the line of the railroad eight miles, and was then met by the train. I reached Plymouth at 3 A. M., Friday, December 30th, and reported to the Mayor as directed by the Governor. Upon your arrival I reported to you. The company left Plymouth on its return on Saturday at 8 P. M., arriving in Washington at 8 A. M. Sunday, January 1st, 1882.

Respectfully,
